THE PRYBLOFF AFFAIR.

If a certain dispatch sent out from Tokyo the other day was true, there is perhaps need that the battleship squadron lose as little time as possible in getting into the waters of the Pacific. The dispatch, though, lacks confirmation and at any rate seems to be susceptible of modification. It states that the Japanese government had completed an investigation of the killing of Japanese seal poachers at the Prybloff islands by American guards, had found that the poachers were unarmed, that the killing was wanted and that the Japanese government communicated the result of the investigation to Washington with a rather brusque demand for a reply.

All this sounds more warlike than anything we had previously heard and puts our government into a more embarrassing position than the Japanese representations regarding the treatment of Japanese in California. In that case our government could express its regret and promise to do what it could, which, however, turned out to be nothing.

But in this case, our government finds itself face to face with findings in the Prybloff affair quite different from those which it reached itself on the reports of its revenue officers. Against the word of these men who were engaged in preventing the violation of the law the Japanese government could have the testimony only of men who went to the islands as law breakers.

If it transpires that the Japanese government has really sent such a truculent message to Washington, it is a sign that our slant-eyed friends on the other side are persistently looking for trouble and intend to keep on looking in one place or another until they find it.

THE PROTECTION OF EAGLES.

A correspondent of this paper at Cave Creek a few days ago described the prowess of a young lady of that neighborhood who had just killed an eagle. That was something of a feat for an Arizona girl or any other girl to perform but we fear it will not have the full approval of the federal authorities, for says the Cleveland Plain Dealer:

The American eagle is protected by a special United States statute that makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by a heavy fine, to shoot or capture the national bird. Dr. H. S. Wende, of Tonawanda, recently came in possession of an eagle that was shot through the wing and captured on Grand Island. His attention was called to the federal law, which is not generally known, and as soon as the eagle is able to fly it will be returned to the island. There are four more American eagles in the forest on Grand Island. Special permits are granted by the government to public parks to hold eagles in captivity.

The protection which the government has thrown about the eagle is partly the outgrowth of sentiment and partly based upon the real danger of the extinction of the eagles which are not numerous and never have been.

At a time when less was known of the seamy side of the eagle's character he was made a national bird, first by the Romans and afterward by modern European nations including the French of the First Empire. Naturalists have since told us that national affection has been misplaced; that the eagle possesses few of the noble attributes which were formerly supposed to belong to him and that he possesses many attributes which are far from noble.

However we would not like to see him effaced and for that matter we would like to see him and all the other inhabitants of the air protected against the inhabitants of the earth.

We wish that this protection might be especially thrown over the song birds which do much to make life more nearly worth living.

Now is the time for Phoenix people to get down on their marrow bones and put up a few earnest petitions in behalf of the national guard rifle team. The shoot is on at Camp Perry and the boys are in strong company. It is their first year at the game and there is a harrowing fear that beside clear heads and good eyes they will at least need the prayers of their countrymen to grasp anything in the line of trophies.

The fall arrived yesterday four days at least ahead of time. His advent however was not so violent as to warrant the neglect of other urgent business to take precautions against frost.

Secretary Taft is now in the hero class, along with Mr. Fairbanks and other gentlemen who have their rods up to attract the presidential lightning, thanks to a railroad wreck yesterday. The Associated Press correspondent gave him full credit for helping rescue the passengers, adding somewhat suggestively that nobody was hurt.

EXCURSION DAYS TO REGION OF PINES

Reduced Rates on Santa Fe for Baseball Tournament and Labor Day.

The last popular excursion on the Santa Fe for the season to Prescott and Humboldt will be run to the former point on August 31, September 1 and to the latter September 1 and 2, the rates to Prescott $3.50, and Humboldt $4.50 from Phoenix. It is thought that there will be several hundred visitors in those cities on the days mentioned, when there will be ball games and many other interesting events. Prescott has arranged a baseball tournament as follows: August 31, Prescott and Tucson at Prescott; Sept. 1, Tucson and Winslow at Prescott; Sept. 2, Winslow and Prescott at Humboldt; Sept. 3, the two winning teams at Prescott.

For the tournament Prescott is offering prizes of $500 and $250. Labor Day will be celebrated in famous style at Humboldt. Besides ball games there will be horse races, miners' drilling contests and something doing every minute.

This excursion will be the last opportunity of the season to eel off at reduced rates. A large crowd of Phoenixians is planning to visit the two cities on the excursion days. The ball games will be particularly well worth witnessing and there is likely to be some fast playing with the big cash prizes in sight.

The Charm of a Smoky Topaz

Mrs. Malone—Well, Mrs. Straw, I am so glad to see you. How are you?
Mrs. Straw—Ho hi ham hall rite. Hi have been readin' hof so many things lately, hand now Hi want to hax you hof that man Massie who keeps the nice second hand store. Hi think of 'av'ing my 'ouse hall refurbished. Now, will 'e buy hall my held stuff out of my 'ouse?

Mrs. Malone—You bet your shoostings he will and will pay better prices than any other man in this town for your goods; an' he can sell you goods a heap cheaper than anyone else.

Mrs. Straw—Now, please, 'ow can 'e do these things? Hit is a mystery to me.

Mrs. Malone—I will help you by putting you next. You have heard of the smoky topaz. Well, two men started out in an automobile the other day. They got out forty miles on the desert and the machine stopped. One man said, "We will have to walk back forty miles to Phoenix," but the other said "Not so long as I have this smoky topaz." So he rubbed his topaz a moment an' here come a man down the road. They asked him if he knew anything about the machine. He said he had worked in the shop five years so he fixed up the machine and they continued on their trip.

Mrs. Straw—Now, Mrs. Malone, what has that got to do with Massie's? Mrs. Malone—Why, these men were on the way to Massie's to get furniture to fit up a rooming house at Kelvin and hadn't time to wait for the train. He keeps everything.
